Search on OPAC

We use OPAC to search materials housed in the Library.
Let us show you the search methods and how to read the search results.

1. OPAC

OPAC stands for Online Public Access Catalog. It is a library catalog on which you can search the materials online. You have access from Library PCs and any on-campus PCs as well as from your home or any off-campus PCs.

2. What can OPAC do?

- Search library collections
 - search materials housed in the Library: books, journals, electronic journals, AV materials
 - search materials owned by research centers of the Library

3. Search materials

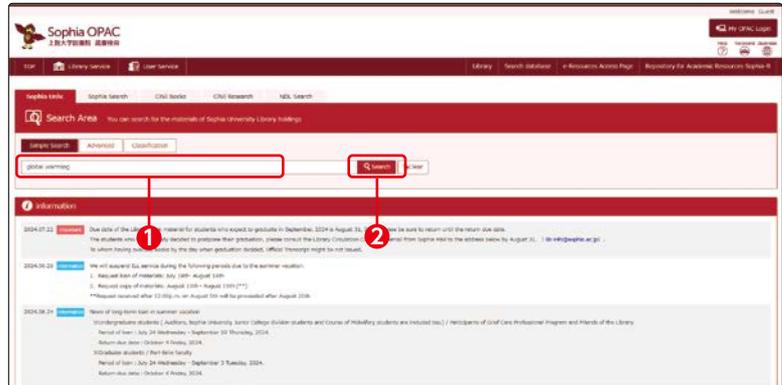

(1) Simple search

1 Simple search is searching by keywords.

Keywords are titles, authors, or words that are clues to searching the materials. You may choose any keyword.

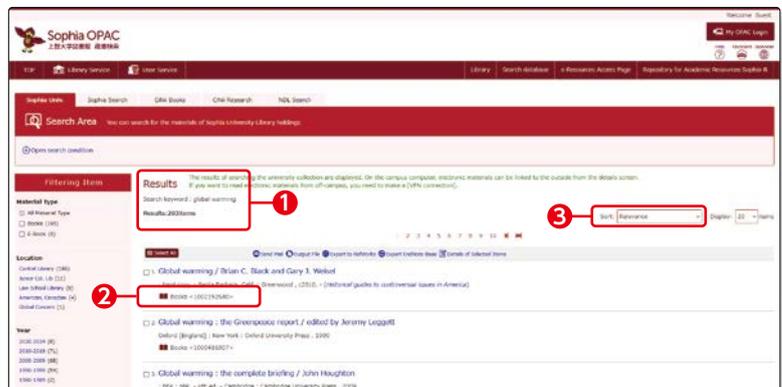

Here, we will try searching by the keyword “global warming”.

We enter “global warming” in the keyword box—1 and click on “Search”.—2

2 Library materials related to “global warming” will be searched and displayed in a list.

At the top, the number of search results will be shown.—1

Type of materials is displayed.

e.g. “books”, “E-Book”, “E-Journal”, “Other”..—2

You may sort results in any order you like.—3

For example, sort by “Year(Descending order)” to show list of books published recently in order of new publications.

At the left side of the screen, “Filtering Item” box displayed.—①

For example, if you need materials of global warming shelved only in Central Library, click “Central Library” under “Location” section.—②

*Some items in Filtering Item box are not shown in English.

Only Central Library materials are shown in search results.

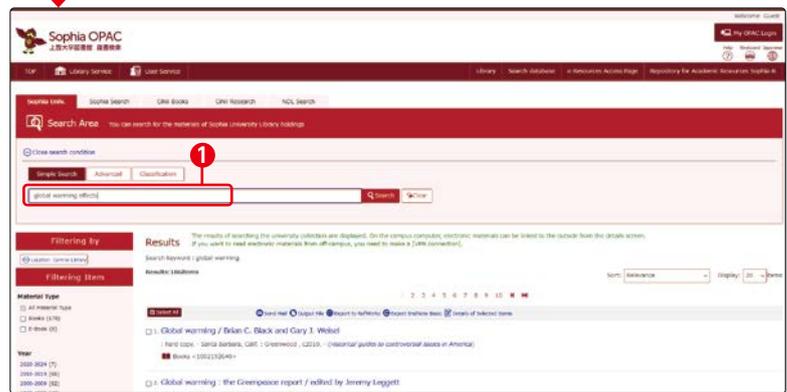

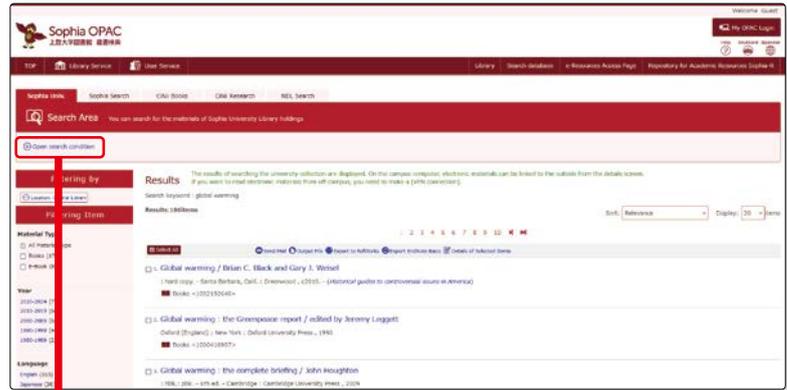

If you would like to release condition of filtering Search, click Location: Central Library in “Filtering by”.—③

If the search results in a large number of hits, enter another keyword to refine the search.

Enter “effects” to refine your search.—①

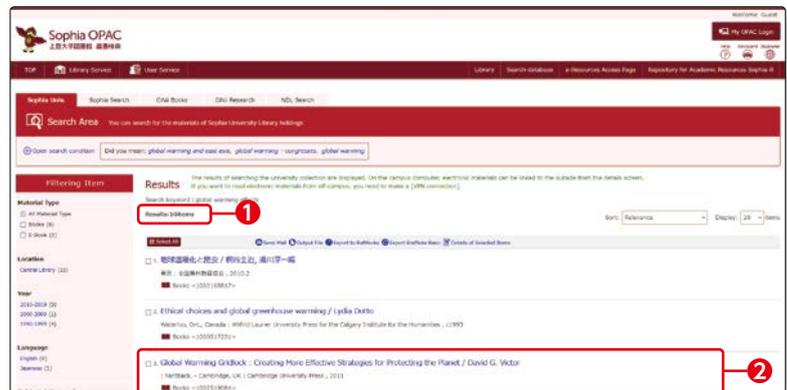

If you link two keywords by a space as “global warming effects”, it will give you AND search, showing search results which include 2 keywords (See p.85 for AND search).

The number of search results will be reduced.—①

Click on a title.—②

Search results are shown in part A for Books bibliography information and screen B for Holdings information.

A Books bibliography information

Information of books such as title, name of author, number of pages, size, year of publication etc.

- 1 "Author".....shows the author who wrote the book. Click on link; it will show books written by the same author held in the Library.
- 2 "Subject".....shows the subject matter (theme) of the material. Click on link; it will show materials with the same subject held in the Library. This helps you search materials with the same subject area (theme).

B Holdings information shows the "location" in the Library and the "status" of the book you searched.

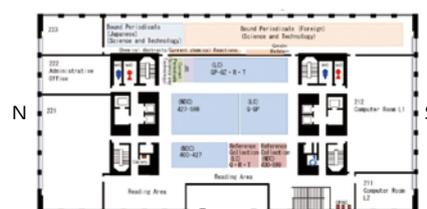

- 3 "Location" shows the shelf of the book. You can find the materials on the 2nd floor for this material. Click on link; floor map will appear on screen.

- 4 "Call No." is, so to say, the address of the material. Check the Call No. and then search for the shelving location of the material (☞ See p.10 for Call No.).

- 5 "ISBN" (International Standard Book Number) is an internationally regulated system of identifying books by numbers.

Periodicals has given ISSN (International Standard Serial Number). These numbers are necessary to request copies or to borrow books (☞ see p.70 for Interlibrary Loan).

Central Library 2F

- ⑥ “Regis. No.” is the barcode number pasted onto the books.
- ⑦ “Status” shows the current status of the books. If the book is available, it will be blank but if someone else is borrowing the book it will say “Lending”. If “Lending”, the return date will also be indicated.
- ⑧ “Reserve” is to reserve a book which is being “borrowed”. If you wish to borrow the book immediately on its return, click on “Reserve” button and reserve the book. After clicking “Reserve”, the screen shows user login page. Enter your Student or Faculty ID No, and PW for PW used for on-campus PC issued by ICT Office.
- ⑨ “V-Shelf”……You can see the virtual bookshelf.

★ Mini Information ★

There are 11 research institutes (such as Institute For Christian Culture, Institute of Medieval Thought, Iberoamerican Institute, Linguistic Institute for International Communication, Institute of Global Concern, European Institute, Institute of Asian, African, and Middle Eastern Studies, Institute of American and Canadian Studies, Institute for Studies of the Global Environment) within the library. Please note that the usage of research institute materials differs depending on where they are stored.

- “Full Title” You can search only exact match of title.

e.g. Enter “Science” in “Exact Title” ⇒ result shows only materials with title “Science”
 Enter “Science” in “Title” ⇒ results shows materials, more than 15,000 with “Science” included in title. “Science and Wisdom”, “The sociology of science” etc.

- “Author” Enter names of individual or group; you can search materials of which the individual / group is the author, editor, or translator.

e.g. Searching for “William Shakespeare” Shakespeare William William Shakespeare

- “Publisher” You can search by name of publisher or publishing company.
- “Subject” Subject shows the subject (theme) given to the material.
- “ISBN/ISSN” (🔗 See p.30)
- “Call No.” If you know the call numbers, you can search using those numbers.

2 Document Type

You can specify the material you are looking for. If you know which book or journal you are looking for, select the material to refine your search results.

3 Search Option

- “Year Published” You can search materials (excluding journals) by year of publication.
- “Language” You can select the language of title, in which the materials are written and them search. From pull-down menu, you can select various languages other than English.
- “Material Type” You can select material category for your search. From pull-down menu, you can select material category of AV material, maps, electronic journals, etc.

“keyword (search term)” and “subject”

The most difficult part of searching is to choose the appropriate “keyword (search term)” to find the exact materials you need. Which words should you choose as keyword to find the material you need? Here is a tip; use the field “Subject” to choose your keyword; choose your keyword looking from a wide perspective or sometimes from a narrow perspective, changing your viewpoint.

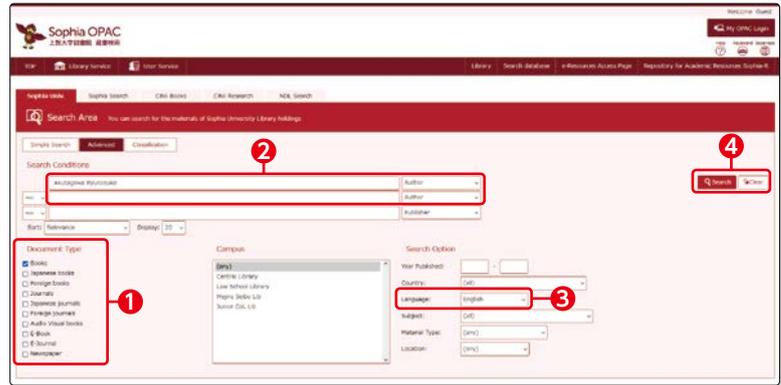

Keyword……Words that provide clues to your search; words related to the object of search; you are free to choose any words you like.

Subject……Defines the subject (theme) given to a literature or material. Using “subject”, you can search the literature from its contents.

- e.g.
1. You wish to find out about global warming.
 2. Think of a keyword; you came up with “global warming”, “Kyoto protocol” and search, using these as keywords.
 3. Search results show screens with detailed list of books with subjects such as “global warming”, “greenhouse effect”, “ozone”, “conservation of nature”, “climate change” etc. Change your viewpoint and refine your search using these terms as keywords.

Here, we will search the book “Akutagawa Ryunosuke” written in English. Click on “Advanced Search”. In Document type, select “Books”—1
 In “Author” enter “Akutagawa Ryunosuke”—2
 In “Language” select English.—3
 Click on “Search”.—4

The screen shows books written by Ryunosuke Akutagawa translated in English. Select and display one book from search results.

As with the results of Basic search, the bibliography and holding information will be displayed.

“Language”—1 shows that this book is written in English.
 Based on “Call No.”—2 in Holding information, look for the shelf where the book is located.

Mandarins : Stories by Ryunosuke Akutagawa

著者: Ryunosuke Akutagawa

出版情報: Ed.: 1st Archipelago Books ed. Brooklyn, NY : Archipelago, 2007

リソースタイプ: eBook

説明: Prefiguring the vital modernist voices of the Western literary canon, Akutagawa writes with a trenchant psychological precision that exposes the shifting traditions and ironies of early twentieth-century Japan and reveals his own strained connection to it. These stories are moving glimpses into a cast of characters at odds with the society around them, singular portraits that soar effortlessly toward the universal. What good is intelligence if you cannot discover a useful melancholy? Akutagawa's voice mused: both piercing intelligence and useful melancholy buoy this remarkable collection. Mandarins contains three stories published in English for the first time: "An Evening Conversation," "An Enlightened Husband," and "Winter."

(3) Advanced Search for Journals

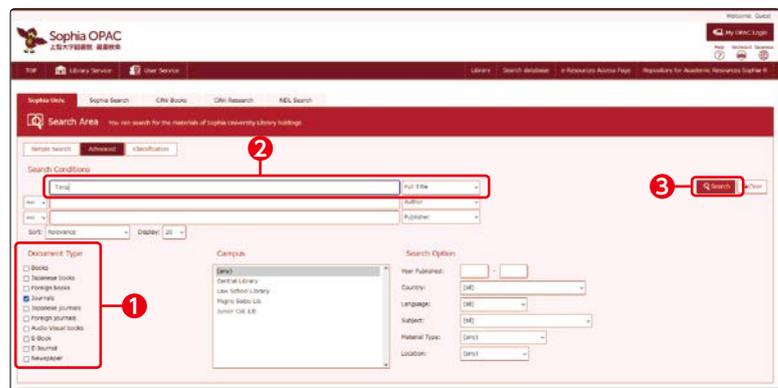

1 Here, let us search the journal "Time". Click on "Advanced Search".

2 Select "Journals" in Document Type.—①

Choose "Full Title" from pull-down menu, and enter "Time".—②

If you know the full title, search from "Full Title"; it gives only exact matches and the search is easier.

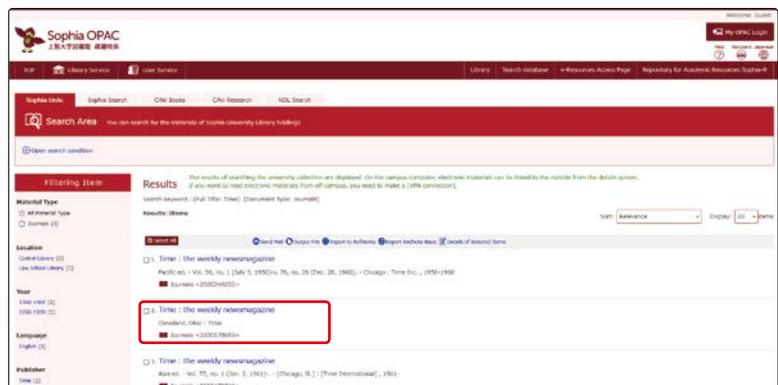

e.g. If you enter "Time" in "Title words", search results will show all materials whose title or subtitle includes "time" such as in "The New York Times", "American maritimecases".

☞ For the difference between title search and full title search, please see p.33-34

Click on "Search".—③

3 Search results show three different "Time". Here, click on 2nd title.

5 Let's see BOX in practice. BOX is boxy shape and has a door. Each BOX is attached BOX NO. which is like a call number for books .

- 1 The latest edition is placed in front of the BOX door, and the older issues are kept inside the BOX.
- 2 When location shows "Box 1F(Serials)", you can find journals in front of/ inside the BOX. When "Binding Magazine" is displayed on the screen, journals are not in the BOX.

Open the BOX door...

Next, we see more detail about "Binding Magazine".

Memo

What is "Binding"?

Journals held at the Library are bound together for storage after a given time period. This is called "Binding". Journals that are "bound" are called back numbers and the call numbers are printed on the spines and shelved on "Series" corner on 2nd or 3rd floor (2F, 3F) of the Library.

You cannot use journal which status shows "Binding Magazine" in OPAC, as it is in bound.

"Bound" Journals

Materials shelved in the BOX are journals issued in the year including the latest issues (within about a year of issue). Where can you find older issues of the journals?

The back numbers of “Time” are shelved on Series 3F; Call no. is Za12:Ti53. For Location and Call no. please refer to p.14.

Let us look at “Volumes”:—① the first number shows the volume, numbers in brackets () show issues, numbers in the last brackets () show year of publications.

Here we have 129(1-6,8-26),130(1-10,12-26)···170-203,204(1-2)+

- For Vol.129, No.1-6 and No.8-26 are available, but issue No.7 is missing.
- Vol.129-Vol.204 are published in years 1987 to 2024.

Year of publication is the year from the first issue to the latest issue, which is in the library. Therefore, even if there is a missing in between, the corresponding year will be displayed.

- The “+” mark at the end of the volume and issue numbers means the journal is being accepted. If there is no “+” mark, the journal is no longer accepted.

Please also pay attention to “Request”:—②

“Request” shows that “ Vol.136 (1990) and older issues are shelved in Bldg.2 depository”. If you would like to read Vol.136 (1990) or older volumes/issues, click on “Print” in “Request” and print out a “Request for Material in Depository Stacks” for using depository materials. Fill in the required information and apply at Circulation Counter on 1F, Library. Materials of Bldg.2 depository will be delivered four times a day. You may request during office hours of the Circulation Counter. Request is accepted for up to 5 volumes at a time.

Request accepted	Access to requested materials
Preceding day	10:00 am
By 11:00 am	12:00 noon
By 2:00 pm	3:00 pm
By 4:00 pm	5:00 pm
From 4:00 pm to office closing hour	(10:00 am following day)*

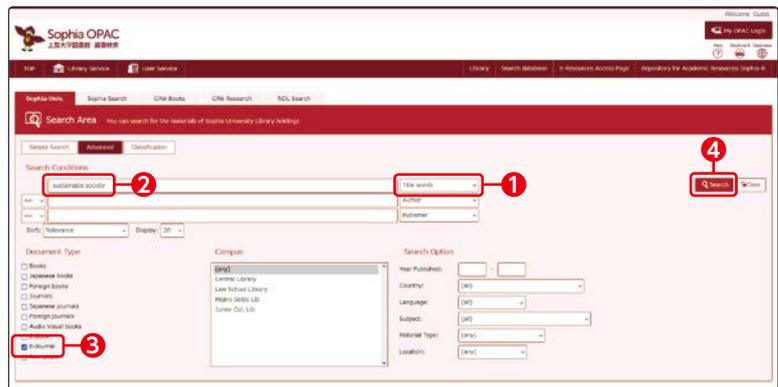

*Requests are also accepted on Saturdays. Access to requested materials will be 10:00 am on following Mondays.

(4) Advanced Search for E-Journals

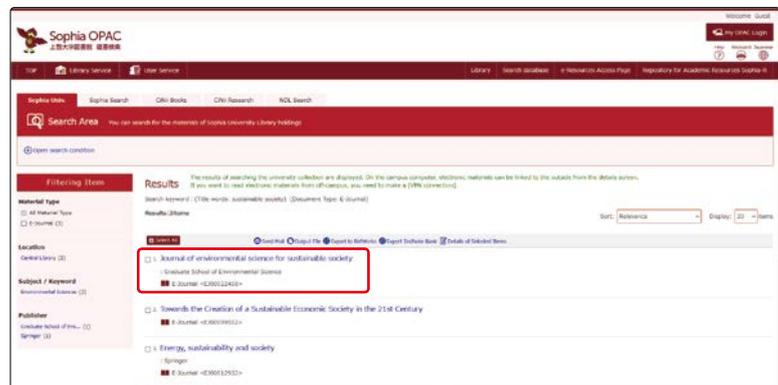

1 Next, let us search the journal by entering specific keyword.

Choose "Title words" from pull-down menu—1, and enter "sustainable society"—2

Check "E-Journal" under "Document Type"—3, and click on "Search"—4

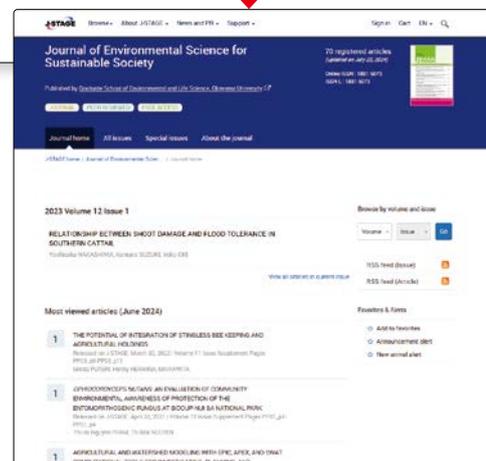

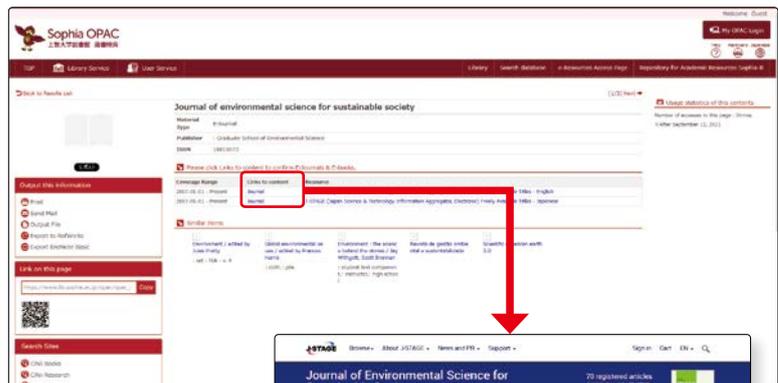

2 A list of search results will be displayed. Let's click on one title.

3 "E-Journal information" will be displayed.

Clicking on "Journal" under "Links to content" to go to e-journal site.

Open the pull-down menu and select the language.—¹

Select the volume/issue you want to read from "Browse by volume and issue" and click on it.—²

The screenshot shows the J-STAGE website interface. At the top right, there is a language selection dropdown menu with 'EN' selected, indicated by a red circle and the number 1. Below the main navigation, there is a section titled 'Browse by volume and issue' with a red box around it and the number 2. This section contains two dropdown menus for 'Volume' and 'Issue', and a 'GO' button.

The "Journal issue" page will open.

Click on "Download PDF".

You can view and download free access and open access articles.

Please note that even if it is within the published range, the entire text may not be displayed due to copyright.

The screenshot shows the article page for the paper titled "VISUALIZATION OF MULTIVARIATE DATA USING EXPANDED CONSTELLATION AND EXPANDED KANJI GRAPHS AND THEIR APPLICATION TO CLUSTERING" by Mika FUJIWARA^{1*}, Shoji KAJINISHI², and Koji KURIHARA^{3*}. The page includes the journal title, volume and issue information, author names, affiliations, and a brief abstract. A red arrow from the previous screenshot points to this page.

(5) Classification Search

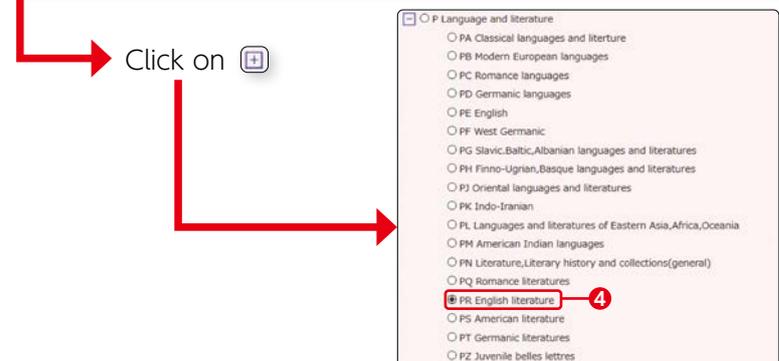

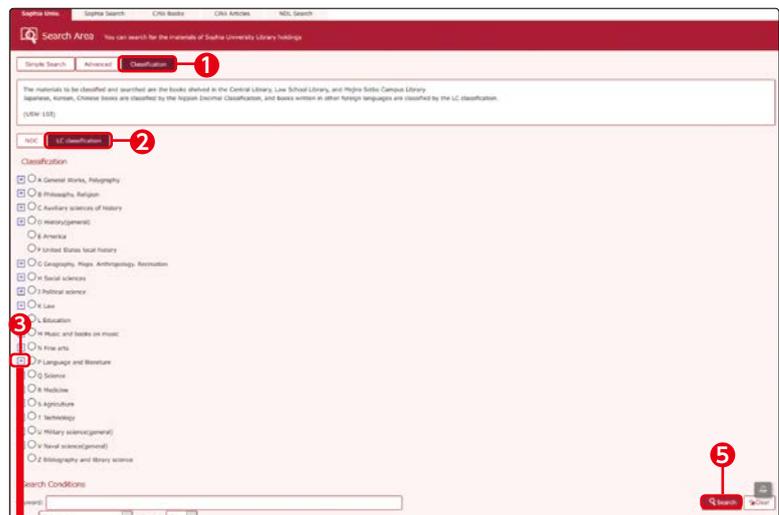

Now we will see “Classification Search”. When you would like to know what kind of materials available in each area, or try to find the material in the same area you are interested in, you need to go and see book shelves directly. Classification search helps you to find those information beforehand.

Books in the library are classified into 2 types of methods; Nippon Decimal Classification (NDC) for books in East Asian languages (Japanese, Chinese, Korean) and Library Congress Classification (LC) for books in Western languages. (☞ See details on p.8-9)

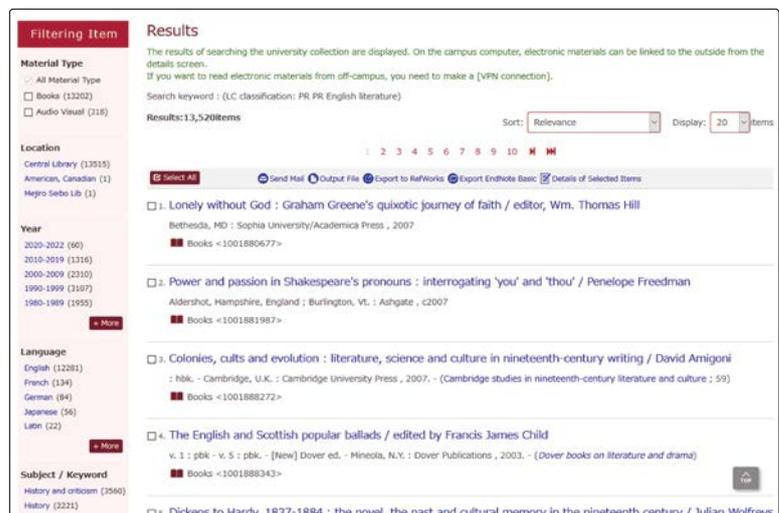

1 Here, we will try to find books related to English Literature written in Western languages.

Open a “classification search” tab — 1 and click on “LC classification” — 2
Click on next to “P Language and literature” — 3

“P Language and literature” area is segmentalized and shown into display. Choose and click on “PR English literature”. — 4 and click on “Search” — 5

2 Materials on English literature are shown into search results.

What is the NDL Digital Collections?

The NDL Digital Collections enables a user to search and view a variety of resources, digitized by the National Diet Library of Japan.

There are following three access restrictions using digitized materials.

1. Available without login...Materials for which it has been confirmed that copyright protection has expired are freely accessible on the Internet.
2. Available with digitized contents transmission service ...Materials which are difficult to buy on the market due to reasons such as being out-of-print are available at the specific terminal in its partner libraries. Also, official registered users who have agreed to the terms of service can use the Digitized Contents Transmission Service for Individuals.
https://www.ndl.go.jp/en/use/digital_transmission/individuals_index.html
3. Available only at the NDL...Materials which are available neither online nor via the Digitized Contents Transmission Service are available only at the NDL.

If you would like to view the materials marked as available with digitized contents transmission service on the National Diet Library Digital Collections search page, it is necessary to apply for use at the Reference counter on the 1st floor of the library. Copy service is available.

(The copying fee per sheet is 20 yen for black and white, 60 yen for color.)

【NOTE】

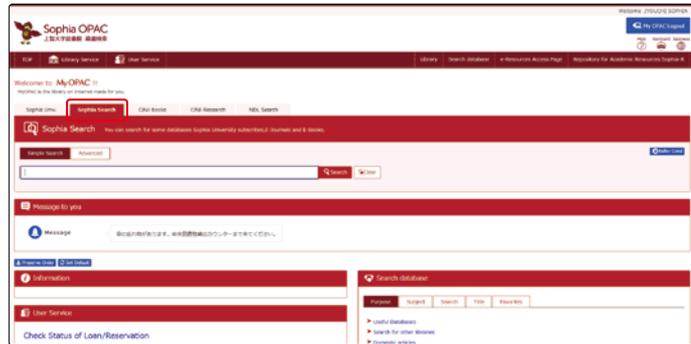

Even if the materials are not held by the university, if they are available with digitized contents transmission service, you cannot apply for ILL photocopying service.

Please consult at the reference counter on the 1st floor of the library regarding borrowing from other libraries or visiting other libraries.

Search on Sophia Search

1. What is Sophia Search

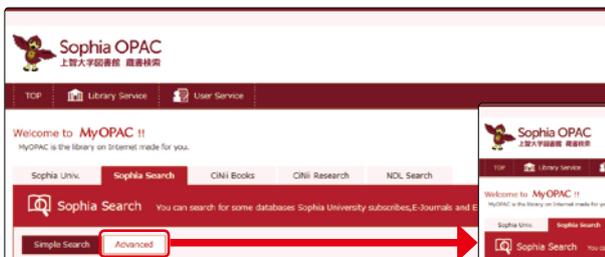

Sophia Search (Discovery Service Summon) is a new service for quickly and easily searching for materials held by the library simply by entering keywords into a single search box. (This is especially useful when you are not sure whether the material you are seeking is contained in a “book,” “journal,” or “article.”)

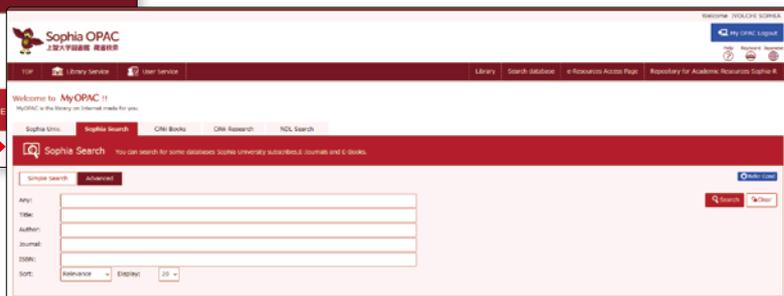

2. How does Sophia Search Work?

Sophia Search can search not only books, journals, e-journals and databases held by Sophia University, but also information on the National Diet Library Digital Collection.

3. Sophia Search Simple Search Screen

The TOP screen of Sophia Search is "Simple Search". Click "Advanced" to change into the advanced search screen.

Compared to Simple Search, there are more fields to complete in order to obtain search results that most match the object of your search.

4. Simple Search

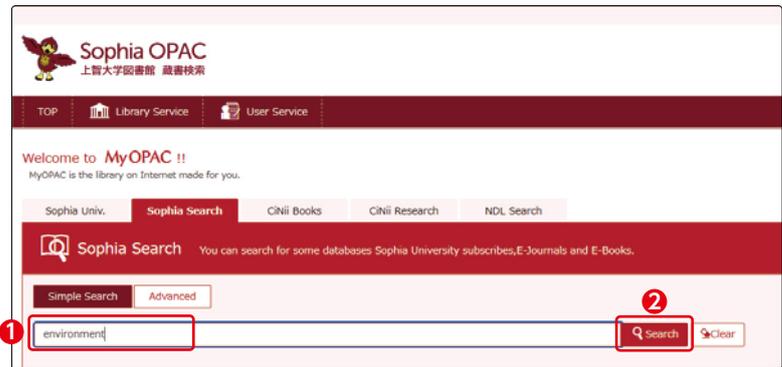

1 Here, we will search “environment”.

Enter “environment” in keyword column—① and click on search button.—②

The single search box will search across many fields automatically.

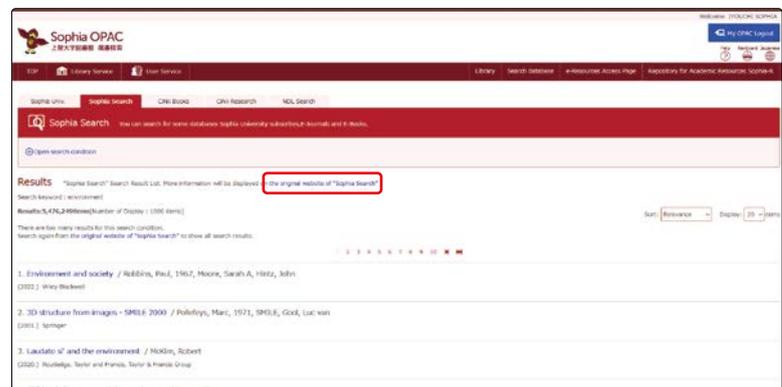

* A field is an item that searches for a keyword.

【The original website of “Sophia Search”】

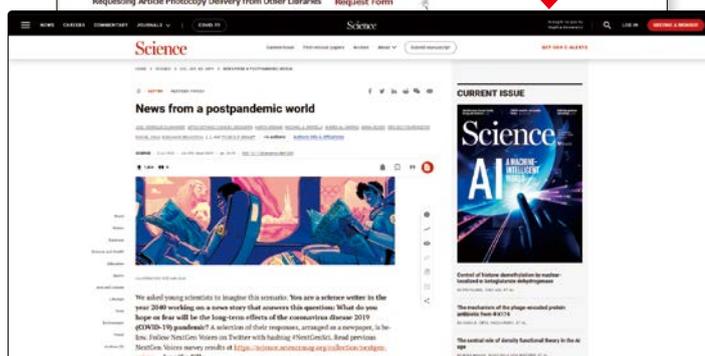

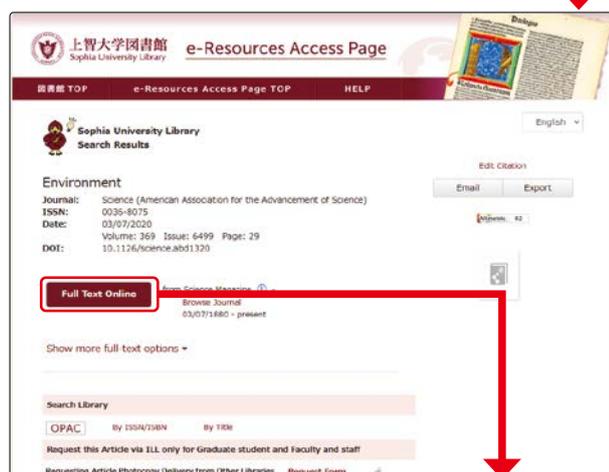

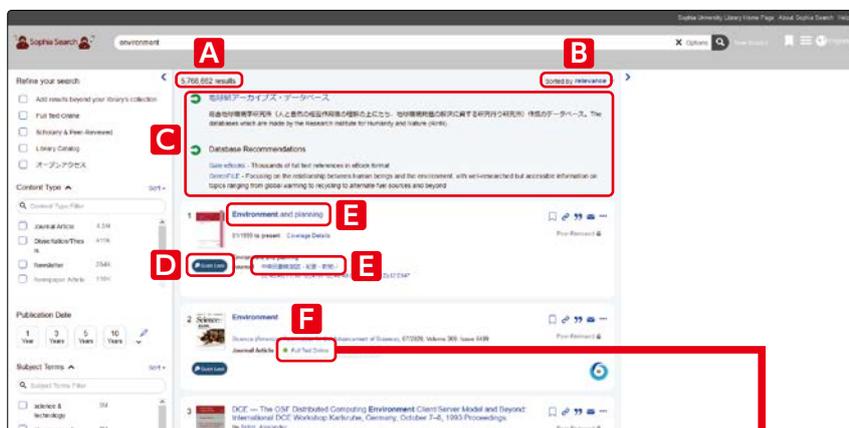

- 4 Enter “environment” in keyword column—1 and click on Q button.—2

- 5 Materials related to “environment” will be displayed.

- A The number of hits is displayed as the search result.
- B Change the order of display. Ex.) by relevance, date of publication.
- C A database may be sometimes recommended depending on the search keyword.
- D Click the “Quick Look”, display the bibliographic information of the material.
- E When the location or call number of the material is displayed, click on each part or the title to display the OPAC screen.
- F Clicking on “Full Text Online” will take you to the “e-Resources Access Page”. You can read the full text by clicking “Full Text Online” on the “e-Resources Access Page”.

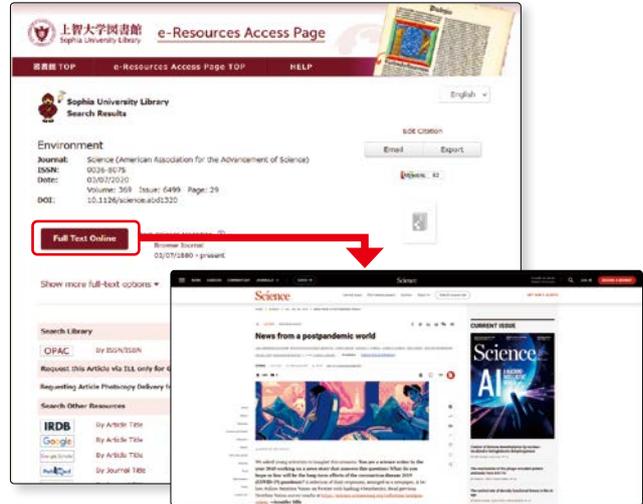

5. How to get access to the Full Text Online

There are several ways to get access to the Full Text. Clicking on "Full Text Online" will take you to the following page.

(1) "e-Resources Access Page",

Clicking Full Text Online, the full text will be displayed.

- ✳ If multiple results displayed, it means that they are included in multiple databases. The contents are the same no matter which one you access.

(2) If you move to a source/database that contains articles,

Clicking "Download PDF", the full text will be displayed.

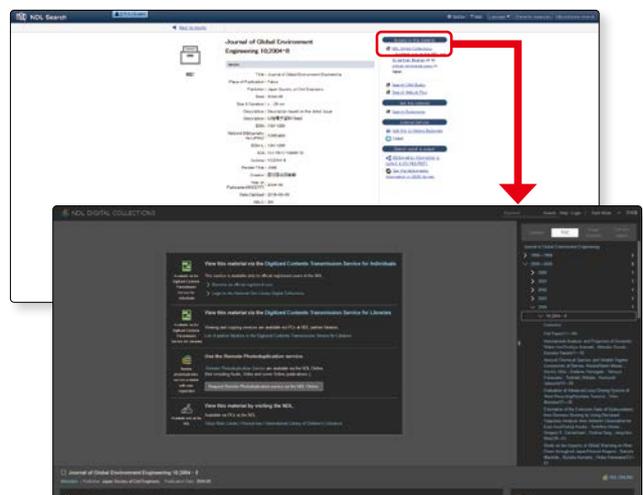

(3) "NDL Search",

If the material is in the National Diet Library Digital Collections, you can go to the NDL Search page.

By clicking on the "NDL Digital Collections" displayed on the top right of the screen, you can browse digital images.

- ✳ See p.54 for more details on the National Diet Library Digital Collections.

(4) "e-Book" page,

Open the e-book, then the table of contents will be displayed.

You can read the text by clicking "PDF" displayed next to the table of contents.

✳ To access e-Book, you need to connect VPN. (☞ See p.71 for more details)

✳ The appearance of the e-book varies depending on the provider.

For more information on e-books, please refer to "Let's start e-books".

Abstract. This introduction paper presents basic foundations of distributed systems and applications and then shows how OSF DCE addresses the requirements imposed by distributed environments. The DCE architecture is illustrated, the basic functionality of the DCE components is explained, and the DCE RPC as the major base for client/server applications is presented in closer detail.

The paper also discusses requirements and new models beyond DCE in order to enable even more advanced distributed applications. In particular, distributed object-oriented DCE extensions are outlined and directions towards distributed multimedia applications are pointed out. Moreover, other requirements and trends such as advanced tool support or distributed transaction facilities are also discussed. Finally, an overview of the papers within these proceedings is given.

1 Introduction and Overview

The potential benefits of distributed processing systems have been widely recognized [1,2]. They are due to improved economics, functionality, performance, reliability and scalability. In order to explore the advantages of distributed processing, appropriate support is needed that enables the development and execution of distributed applications. A distributed application consists of separate parts that execute on different nodes of the network and cooperate in order to achieve a common goal. A supporting infrastructure should make the inherent complexity of distributed processing transparent as much as possible. The infrastructure is required to integrate a wide range of computer system types and should be independent of the underlying communication
